Providing Comprehensive Security and Investigative Solutions

Our Firm

Risk Control Strategies (RCS) is the premier security consulting and investigations firm serving the high net worth community in the United States. Described as the ‘Tiffany’ of the industry, we tailor design security solutions for affluent individuals, single & multiple family offices and trusted advisors to ensure deliverables are consistent with the current level of risk and allow for anticipated future events. As a sampling of our portfolio, we provide investigative due diligence on staff/investment matters, design and implement estate security systems, build and install highly encrypted computer servers to protect against data theft, conduct counter measure sweeps, provide travel security and executive protection, and all other security-related service your clients may require. RCS is headquartered in New York with offices in California, Nevada, Florida and postured with over 150 professionals on its team.

Our Unique Features

Risk Control Strategies’ distinguishing characteristic is the expertise of our personnel which is based upon a combination of hands-on industry experience, educational knowledge and most importantly, wisdom garnered from decades of dedication to our nation’s well-being. We fuse this proven expertise with a team of renowned former federal and state law enforcement professionals representing each industry related discipline. This, in concert with our preeminent technological inventory and service delivery, provides clients with a true world class firm.

Our Strengths

Our ability to garner intelligence on a global basis utilizing in country human assets allows us to craft an unparalleled wall of protection for our family members. With our investigative expertise, we can assist clients with a wide variety of investigative needs including missing persons, kidnapping, extortion, black mail, suspected theft, embezzlement, asset tracing, surveillance, background screening and investigative due diligence. Our primary goal is to provide our clients

Little-Known Facts About Our Firm

RCS is built on the company motto Servare Vitas, the Latin phrase meaning “to save lives.” This extends far beyond the traditional meaning and speaks to creating the framework for peace-of-mind by protecting human, financial and physical assets. By design, RCS is not for everyone, but more for the learned end-user. Our methodology is one that draws upon our extensive experience in directing clients toward their true best interest. Our ultimate goal is to resolve the situation while ensuring the client moves forward productively and not in a manner that could ultimately cause them financial, personal or professional harm.
